

LifeLaunch on-campus Ambassadorship

What We're About:

LifeLaunch is a not-for-profit college campus program focused on career education and networking college students with alumni and employers who seek qualified candidates. LifeLaunch aims to become a leading student organization on campus. LifeLaunch offers an on campus curriculum focusing on business, life, and career education, weekly employment panels that engage alumni and participating sponsor employers, and shadowing/mentoring/internship opportunities. College/student/alumni networking social events and an interactive college database supplement the curriculum into experiential learning. LifeLaunch creates value in a more measurable ROI to student's college education as well as to the engaging lifetime relationship of Alumni and their alma mater.

Job Description and Responsibilities:

The LifeLaunch Intern will gain first-hand experience working within a nonprofit which endeavors to improve the future outlook for students, recent graduates, and alumni. Essentially, the intern is a LifeLaunch on-campus Ambassador—someone who will establish and help guide LifeLaunch on his/her college campus. The LifeLaunch intern will become the leader of this student organization.

Responsibilities include but are not limited to:

- Establishing resources to start a LifeLaunch organization on your campus.
- Organizing and scheduling with LifeLaunch Corporate to facilitate programming.
- Working with the college Alumni office to create networking and social activities.
- Researching regional companies for potential partnerships and business relations.
- The ability to think on one's feet: Each week may be different depending on our immediate concerns, and the intern must be willing to adjust quickly.
- Brainstorming: The intern is expected to join in our discussions about LifeLaunch plans and progress, lending ideas during meetings.
- Creating and promoting on-campus LifeLaunch activities.

We are looking for an intern who:

- Must be enrolled in a bachelor's degree program.
- Must possess strong organizational skills/responsibility to keep track of his/her own work and report back to LifeLaunch Corporate.
- Possesses excellent verbal and written communication skills: Because we are a growing nonprofit, there is a lot of interaction between potential partners. Professionalism and a personable attitude are expected.
- Takes on a go-get-'em attitude and is excited about their work.
- Wants to become a leader on campus with the LifeLaunch student organization.

If you're interested in this opportunity we'd like to hear from you!
